Children's Aid Society.

W. M. C. PALMER, Agent of the Children's Aid Society, of Baltimore, will visit Gettysburg again in a few weeks with a company of children, seeking homes for them in the country. Persons in the country wishing to aid in this benevolent work, by taking one or more of these children, should communicate immediately to the undersigned. It is important to have homes in view before leaving the city. Many who wait until the children are brought on are disappointed. R. G. McCREARY, Local Agent.

Choice Poetry.

OLD FRIENDS TOGETHER.

Oh! time is sweet when roses meet,
With spring's sweet breath around them;
And sweet the cost when hearts are lost,
If those we love have found them.

And sweet the mind that still can find
A star in darkest weather;
But might can be so sweet to see
As old friends met together.

These days of old, when youth was bold,
And time stole wings to speed it,
And you did not know how fast time flew,
Oh! knowing, did not heed it.

Though gray old hair that once was brown,
For age brings wintry weather;
Yet might can be so sweet to see
As old friends met together.

First Visit to Church.

The Knickerbocker tells an amusing anecdote of old Peter G.'s going to church for the first time in his life. It seems old Peter was a hale, hearty, hard-working, bluet, open-hearted farmer, who thought more of looking after his stock and farm than of visiting a house of worship on a Sabbath day. A near neighbor, who was his very opposite, and thought it sacrilege to miss a regular church meeting, called on Peter one day, and asked him to attend on the next Sabbath, to hear Parson D. preach, who, by the way, had built a church in the village. So Peter promised that he would be there the next Sunday. Punctual to the time, as Peter thought, but a little late, he arrived at the door, which was the minister having begun. Peter knocked at the door. Some one sitting near opened it. In walked Peter, with a bluet "How do you do?" and looking up at the minister, said, "Sir, how do you do?" and walked up the aisle, spoke to every one whom he knew. When his friend who invited him, rose up to seat him in his pew, he grasped him by the hand, asking him with a loud voice, "how are you, and how are yours?" which made such a unusual commotion, that the congregation was in one stir during the service. This was his first and last visit to Parson D.'s church. He said they were the most unsocial set of people he had ever seen, when they got their Sunday-go-to-meeting faces on.

That's What's the Matter.

In one of the hospitals in the vicinity of Washington, a newly-arrived patient, by the name of Pat, a veritable son of the Emerald Isle, complained of being quite deaf. The next morning after his arrival the physician, while going his regular rounds prescribing for the different patients of his ward, approached Pat who was at the time whistling a tune called the "Irish Washerwoman." The Doctor accented Pat with "What is the matter with you?" but Pat didn't seem to hear, and continued whistling. The Doctor, a little bewildered at Pat's impudence, exclaimed rather sharply, "how long have you been in the hospital?" Pat said nothing, but made more music than ever. The Doctor by this time began to "smell a rat," and he scanned out at the top of his voice: "Where did you come from? what hospital did you come from before you came here?" but it had not the least impression on Pat, who still continued to whistle. The Doctor, after reading Pat's name on his card at the head of his bed, asked, "Pat, don't you want to go home on a furlough?" Pat's eyes glistened for a moment, when he exclaimed, "Yes, that's what's the matter."

About a week after Pat received a thirty day furlough.

A Romantic Marriage.

Miss Helen M. Dresser, a young lady who has within a year or two lectured on Mormonism in different sections of the United States and the British Provinces, was recently married at Goat Island, near Niagara Falls, to Mr. Eli Garrett, of Washington. A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, accidentally upon the spot, but who was unacquainted with the names of the bride and bridegroom, thus describes the scene:

"There was a wedding yesterday on the pretty little island near the Falls. A fair girl from Missouri and somebody from Washington linked their fortunes together in the face of the everlasting floods. The bride, a young woman, was taken from the cradle, they were unable to tell who was the mother and which the daughter's son--a matter which, of course, must ever remain a mystery. The families are in the greatest distress over the affair."

MAKING OUT A SUPPER.--Mr. Brown called in at a neighbor's and was urged to take supper, which he did, the old lady all the while saying, "I'm afraid, Mr. Brown, you will not make a supper; you have eaten nothing--do eat some more." After he had stepped out, he heard the old lady say to her husband, "Why, I do declare, I should think Mr. Brown had not eaten anything for a month."

A LITTLE GIRL'S ANSWER.--At a dinner table conversation the other day, in one of the Brooklyn homes, it was remarked that Jeff Davis had joined the Episcopal church. Soon after, a bright-eyed little miss, just old enough to begin asking questions, spoke up and said:

"Mama, will Jeff Davis go to Heaven?"

"Why, my dear, I do not know, I am sure, whether he will go or not."

After thinking over the subject a little while, the little girl said:

"Well, mamma, I am sure of one thing--that if he goes to George Washington, he won't speak to him!"

A Determined Soldier.

A story is told of a private of the 13th New Jersey regiment, William Lambert, by name, which shows that there is still something of the old blood in the veins of the Jerseyman. At the battle of Chancellorsville, Lambert, finding that his own regiment was not going into the fight, in his anxiety to meet the enemy, joined an Indiana regiment, and fought with them bravely until they were ordered to the rear. About this time his own regiment was ordered forward, when he at once took his place in the ranks and advanced again to the conflict. At the close of the engagement, however, he was among the missing, and nothing was seen or heard of him until the next day, when he appeared at the regimental hospital, without either cap, coat, vest or shoes, and with one arm gone, merely observing that the "rebels had given him a devil of a rap." He had been wounded and taken to a hospital near the battle field, had his arm amputated, and then, disdaining to be idle, walked five miles to his own hospital. Upon the offer of transportation in an ambulance to Aquia Creek, he declined, saying he would ride beside the driver, so that he could "see the country." When such men grapple with the enemy there can be no doubt where the victory will lie.

A Touching Letter.

Dr. Charles August Hartman, Surgeon of the 107th Ohio--a good, brave, patriotic man--fell in the last hard fought battle at Fredericksburg. On his person was found this brief and touching letter to his wife:

My Dear Anna,--During the wild fight of our troops yesterday afternoon I was shot through the abdomen. I am in the hands of the Southrons. Only a little part of my intestines is injured and all may be well. But I want to write you whilst I am able, and to send you my last farewell. I should die. You will receive this letter only in case of my death. I fear not death, but to leave you and the children so soon. My portfolio, containing over one hundred dollars, watch, jack knife and canteen, I have been robbed of by Alabama soldiers. Write to Dr. Orams to sell my horse, saddle, blankets (if saved), and send you the proceeds. To obtain the arrears of my pay and pension employ Jacob Miller. Educate our children to be good and useful. With my last kiss farewell forever, thou, my best beloved, poor, hard tried wife. The last farewell.

From your AUGUST.

A Rebel Millionaire Begging.

The ravages of war are well illustrated by the case of a Southern man living in the neighborhood of Snyder's Bluffs, who lately applied by letter to General Washington for assistance for himself and family. This man was lately the owner of seven large and well-stocked plantations, and was estimated to be worth $50,000. He was in Europe when the war broke out, and did not reach America again until after the occupation of New Orleans by Gen. Butler. Slipping through New Orleans by some means, he came up to a fine plantation in the neighborhood of Snyder's Bluffs, and was found there by our army. He had used his princely fortune lavishly in attempts to forward the secession cause. To day he is reduced to the necessity of depending upon the United States military authorities for the necessities of life! Think of a Southern millionaire, the owner of thousands of slaves; of a fine house and establishment in New Orleans, of a beautiful summer residence in Kentucky, of seven plantations in Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas, and an educated, traveled, cultivated gentleman, of course, going daily to an enemy's commissary of subsistence for rations.

A Curious Battle Anecdote.

Here is a pleasant incident of the late battle of Monticello, Kentucky: "A soldier of the Seventh Ohio, who was fighting during the close of the day on our left, had used up all his caps, and asked a man by his side to let him have a part of his. The reply was that he had none more than he needed for himself. With that a poor wounded rebel, no doubt a conscripted Union man, exclaimed, 'Boys, I've got caps, and running his toe back under his coat, he pulled out what he had, and handed them to the federal soldier. 'Now, boys,' said he, 'can't you give me some water?' Unfortunately, their canteens were empty, and they had none to give. 'Well,' he exclaimed, 'won't you raise up my head and place something under it, for it seems so low.' In the midst of the fight the soldier raised up the dying man's head, and made him as comfortable as he could, then went on in the discharge of his duty."

The Doctor Knows.

An amusing thing occurred in the 24th Ohio. A few days since a soldier, in passing to the lower part of the encampment, saw two others from his company making a rude coffin. He inquired who it was for.

"John Dunge," said the others.

"Why," replied he, "John is not dead yet. It is too bad to make a man's coffin when you don't know if he is going to die or not."

"Don't you trouble yourself," replied the others.

"Dr. Coe told me to make his coffin, and I guess he knows what he gave him."

An Incident in a Railway Car.

Monster--I'm afraid. I'm sitting on your crinoline, ma'am. A little young lady--Oh, never mind, sit on the consequence, you can't hurt it. Monster--No, no, no, it's not that, but it's a confounded thing hurts me."

Generals who Fought at Gettysburg.

It is said that the conqueror of the bloody battle-field near Gettysburg has been often "borne in the arms" and dandled on the knees of the British hero of the Peninsula campaigns and the subsequent victor at Waterloo: General Meade's father, and a distinguished consul in Spain, and the Iron Duke was among his friends. Meade is badly caricatured in some of the "pictorial" weeklies. He is a man of middle stature, and does not change color readily on any excitement or sudden provocation. In 1843 he boarded in one of the hotels of this city (now demolished) for some months, and was a room-mate of Pemberton, lately commanding the rebel forces at Vicksburg. The two young men were intimate--daily and nightly companions--excepting in their behavior.

Brigadier General Eliot J. Farnsworth, who fell bravely in the battle, was born in Michigan in 1835, and was a brother of Gen. J. E. Farnsworth, of Illinois. In 1857 he became attached to the commission the best rider in the army. He entered the army as a quartermaster, and became captain in the 8th Illinois Cavalry. In all the Peninsula battles and Pope's campaign he did not miss a fight or skirmish, which were forty-one in all. Whenever a scout or reconnaissance was to be made, he was invariably placed in the lead. The celebrity of his regiment was greatly due to his genius and bravery. Pleasanton found him a captain and made him a brigadier, both of person and soul. No man who knew him failed to admire his great social attractions, nor will they soon forget his tall, athletic frame, dark, flashing eye, and finely moulded features. Phila. Press.

Col. C. F. Taylor.

Among the many gallant officers lost by the Union army in the battles near Gettysburg, was Col. C. F. Taylor, a brother of the celebrated traveler and historian, Bayard Taylor. He was a Captain in the Bucktail Regiment, under Colonel Kane; was wounded and taken prisoner when attached to Gen. Banks' corps, over a year ago, in the mountains of Virginia. Being subsequently released, he rejoined his regiment as Colonel, and was again slightly wounded at the battle of Fredericksburg, under General Burdette. He had also been in several other engagements. Colonel Taylor was a fine, manly youth of not over twenty-three summers. He had traveled considerably in Europe, and was educated in French, German, and other languages. In fine, he was a ripe scholar, a noble, gallant spirit, a brave soldier, and in dying for the country's cause has covered his name with imperishable glory. I never saw a young man in whose favor I became more sincerely attached. His whole heart swelled with patriotism, and in dying that same heart was pierced with a Minnie ball. He had lived, a bright and glorious career was before him, but in surrendering so gallant a young life in a cause so patriotic, history must emblazon his memory.

Colonel Revere.

It is with deep regret (says the Boston Courier) that we announce the melancholy fact that Col. Paul J. Revere, of the 20th Massachusetts, died on Saturday, at Westminister, Maryland, of wounds received in the recent battle. He was a young man of most noble and generous qualities, esteemed and beloved by all who knew him, and as a son, brother, husband, father, and friend, most attractive, engaging, and faithful. He is the second son whom his parents have been called upon to surrender--his elder brother, Dr. Revere, having been killed in battle about a year since. The youthful colonel was the grandson and namesake of Col. Paul Revere, of Revolutionary memory. The heroic blood of his ancestor had not degenerated in his veins, nor in those of his brother who finished his course before him.

A Private's Death.

A private of the 8th Illinois was shot through the lungs, and brought to the hospital for surgical treatment. His wound was a fatal one, and he suffered intensely. I asked him for his name, and it was Dunsold; and inquiring as to the nature of his wound, he replied that it was mortal, and he did not expect to recover, but that he cared not if we could only prevent the escape of Lee across the Potomac. I gazed upon the hero, with veneration, and as I gazed his lips grew colorless, and the death dew hung in trembling drops upon his brow. I asked the surgeon if he could save him, but he replied that he must die. It will be a source of gratification and pride to his friends to know that he died unblinking, and with his last word for the Union undimmed by long and arduous service in his country's cause.

Cheerfulness.

The celebrated Falstaff says: "No man's spirit ever hurt by doing his duty. On the contrary, one good action, one temptation resisted, and overcome, one sacrifice of desire or interest, purely for conscience sake, will prove a cordial for low spirits beyond what either indulgence, or diversions of company can do for them."

The King of Prussia.

The mental condition of the King of Prussia is said to be deplorable. He declares that a "gallows intended for himself is being erected under the very windows of his palace."

Joint Pain in the Head, Debility of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Sallow Complexion of the Face, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginations of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.
There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart Bottles, containing the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Aine or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to the death of the drunkard.
By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt:
Get one Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with three quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less.
You will find all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
Will give you a good appetite, will give you strong healthy nerves, will give you brisk and energetic feelings, will enable you to sleep well, and will positively prevent Yellow Fever, Bilious Fever, &c.

Those suffering from broken down and debilitated constitutions, from whatever cause, either in male or female, will find in Hoofland's German Bitters, a remedy that will restore them to their usual health. Such has been the case in thousands of instances, and a fair trial is but required to prove the assertion.

Remember, that these Bitters are not Alcoholic, and not intended as a Beverage.

From Rev. J. Norton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend a Patent Medicine, I have, through direct trust of their ingredients and effects, yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope, that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr.
C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly of alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them. J. NEWTON BROWN, Philadelphia, June 28, 1861.

DISEASES OF KIDNEYS & BLADDER:
In young or aged, male or female, are speedily removed, and the patient restored to health.

DELICATE CHILDREN,
Those suffering from Marasmus, wasting away, with scarcely any flesh on their bones, are cured in a very short time; one bottle in such cases, will have a most surprising effect.

Having suffered, as above, and wishing to raise them, will never regret the day they commenced with these Bitters.

LITERARY MEN, STUDENTS,
and those working hard with their brains,
should always keep a bottle of Hoofland's Bitters near them, which they will find much benefit from its use, to both mind and body, nourishing and not depressing. It is a liquor stimulant, and leaves no prostration.

And the friends of Soldiers, We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "Hoofland's German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. We have no
hesitation in stating that if these Bitters
were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved, that otherwise would be lost.

The proprietors are daily receiving thankful letters from soldiers in the army and from the friends of soldiers, who have been restored to health by the use of these Bitters. It is a fact that a large number of soldiers, who have been
restored to health by the use of these Bitters, are now in the army, and are able to perform their duty as soldiers.

sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. We have no
hesitation in stating that if these Bitters
were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds
of lives might be saved, that otherwise would be lost.

The proprietors are daily receiving thankful letters from soldiers in the army and
from the friends of soldiers, who have been
restored to health by the use of these Bitters. It is a fact that a large number of soldiers, who have been
restored to health by the use of these Bitters, are now in the army, and are able to perform their duty as soldiers.

And the friends of Soldiers, We call

DR. ROBERT HORNER'S

NEW FAMILY DRUG & PRESCRIPTION
STORE,
CHAMBERS STREET, GETTYSBURG.

Having retired from the active practice of my profession, I take pleasure in announcing to the citizens of Gettysburg and vicinity, that I have opened a NEW DRUG STORE.

In the room formerly occupied by Drs. R. & C. Horner, as an office, where I will constantly keep on hand a large supply of all kinds of

FRESH DRUGS,
MEDICINES,
CHEMICALS,
PERFUMERY,
TOOTH POWDERS,
EYE STUFS,

DIY PAINTS, and
PAINTS ground in Oil,
OILS, expressed and distilled,
STATIONERY of all kinds,
Inks, Pens, Pencils, Paper, Combs, Brushes, &c., &c.

All the popular Patent Medicines, together with a selection of pure WINES, BRAND-IES and WHISKIES, for medicinal purposes only, always on hand. In a word, my stock embraces everything usually found in a first-class store of this description.

A large supply of fresh Drugs has been received, and others are arriving, which I am offering to the public on very accommodating terms. My Medicines have all been purchased under my personal inspection and superiority from the most reliable sources. I can therefore not only recommend them as pure and fresh, but can sell them cheap.

N.B.—PARTICULAR ATTENTION given to the treatment of all chronic diseases.

Vinegar—Vinegar.

THE undersigned has commenced the manufacture of Vinegar, on Washington street, a few doors north of West Middle street, Gettysburg. He has been manufacturing this Vinegar for nearly one year, and it has given general satisfaction. The superiority of this Vinegar over all other manufactured Vinegar, consists in its being made entirely of grain, no acid of any kind being used in its composition, and free from everything injurious. It is strong, and as the same time pleasant to the taste, and has all the preservative qualities found in pure Cider Vinegar. He is prepared to wholesale this Vinegar in any quantity. Call and examine for yourselves. ADAM DEBELL.

Certificate.

WE, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have used in our families, for various purposes, the Vinegar manufactured and sold by ADAM DEBELL, and find it to be all that it represents it to be. We have fairly tested it and believe it to be superior in every respect, to any other manufactured Vinegar we have ever used, and would recommend it to all persons.

New Confectionery & Ice Cream
SALOON.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the citizens of Gettysburg and vicinity, that he has just opened a new Confectionery Establishment, on the corner of the Eagle Hotel, on Chambersburg street, to which he would invite their attention.

Cakes, Candies and every description of Confections—together with Nuts, Oranges, and all kinds of Fruits—always on hand.
